Car Wi-Fi comes bundled with your car's system, which means you can connect to the internet without having to turn your smartphone into a mobile hotspot, purchase a separate hotspot dongle, or use an OBD-II device. Other manufacturers, such as General Motors (GM), have followed suit with their new vehicles. However, for most, if not all smartphones, you can locate the option from your smartphone's network settings. How to Get Wi-Fi in Your Car Photo Courtesy: Jon Feingersh Photography Inc/Getty Images There are several ways you could get Wi-Fi in your vehicle at an economical price. You likely won't need much in the way of tools either. It means you stay connected with the rest of the world while on the move! Wi-Fi access has proved to be more of a necessity for many people around the globe. Just squeeze the clip and slip it into the handle. In a single word, yes. Consider having a charger by your side. You can just install it by hand; no tools are needed. A local Pep Boys had one for mine, but I did not need it. Alternatively, there should be a button on your car's dashboard that turns on the feature. Again, check with your car manufacturer to determine what service provider has partnered with them in providing Wi-Fi services in your car. 2. You'll pay directly to the car manufacturer or a service provider as per the subscription agreement between you and the company. Cars such as the Chevrolet Cruze, Chrysler 200, Audi A3, and many more have a built-in Wi-Fi device with a stronger signal than the traditional hotspot feature in our smartphones. The car's entertainment system will act similar to a router and bring an internet connection into the cabin. Photo Courtesy: Robert Recker/Getty Images Yes! Some cars do come with a built-in Wi-Fi device that does not need a separate device to connect to the internet. The clip is located on the opposite end of the side of the crank you grasp with your hand. MORE Askmoney.com Whether you bought a used car without a manual or simply lost what you got with your car, it is not too difficult to find an online replacement manual. If you cannot remove the clip, you may need to get a special tool that you can buy in most auto parts stores. As the most efficient way to connect to the Internet while driving, you can activate the option through your settings. See the tree in the door? Today, contacting your car at Wi-Fi has become easier and more convenient, with many choices to choose from. This helps to present real-time information about the location of the car. Turns your smartphone into a mobile hotspot The easiest way to connect while traveling by car would be to turn your smartphone into a portable hotspot. The dedicated mobile hotspot devices can only connect you to the Internet and can not be used to do anything else a smartphone can do. In some cases, you may need to enter some information about your car to access the PDF manual. If the old handle of the handle is still intact, take note of which position (one, two) the handle is inside with the window to the bottom. If your crank is broken or broken and is still on the door, you may be able to remove it with needle nose pliers. What providers offer Wi-Fi service for cars? A courtesy: Image Yulia-Image/Getty Images Mobile providers such as T-Mobile, AT&T and Verizon provide Wi-Fi plans for vehicles. For me, it looks like a natural area and a movement when I reach to lower the window. Install the handle with the handle positioned in the position of the two (or whatever you prefer), press the crank on the shaft that protrudes from the door. Confirmation with manual-specific phone to be sure of the process. The OBD-II connects directly to the OBD-II port, a place where automotive technicians carry out diagnostic computers. This is the il of information you might be able to find via a trusted automotive publisher like Edmunds. Seeking Out DIY Repair Guides In most cases, your owner's manual isn't going to go very far in depth about your car's mechanical setup. Basically, there is a clip that holds the window crank handle to a shaft in the door. Get a Dedicated Mobile Hotspot Device These devices will work similarly to a smartphone when creating the mobile hotspot, but that's where their similarities end. Content is for informational or entertainment purposes only and does not substitute for personal counsel or professional advice in business, financial, legal, or technical matters. You can only access the feature by purchasing a subscription through your car's manufacturer the same way you pay for your home internet. A typical Wi-Fi plan will cost you around $20 to $40 per month, but that will vary with the plan and provider. However, while many people might prefer turning their smartphones into a sharable mobile hotspot, this option might not be reliable, unlike getting a dedicated device for providing internet access.
